Business report

Development of business and position of the W&W Group (IFRS)

Development of business

Despite high inflation, rising interest rates and geopolitical tensions, the development of the financial markets was surprisingly benign but also volatile in the first three months of the year. The bond market was also ultimately stable.

Composition of consolidated net profit

1 Retrospective adjustment under IAS 8 due to the introduction of IFRS 17 as well as in the housing segment because of adjustment of the amortisation of the separate line items from the portfolio fair value hedge.

For the W&W Group, the first three months were a good start to 2023. At \in 64.1 million (previous year: \in 62.1 million), total comprehensive income under IFRS was slightly above the adjusted IFRS 17 of the previous year. It was supported by stabler capital market conditions and a good technical result.

Annual contribution to portfolio of new business (new and replacement business; property/casualty insurance)	167.7	127.5	+31.5

The W&W Group also saw continued success in new business. In gross new home loan savings business, it achieved the best quarterly result in the company's history. The decline in life insurance was due among other things to lower single-premium business. In property/casualty insurance, the growth trajectory continued.

"Top Employer" title

For the third time in a row, the Top Employers Institute, Düsseldorf, has awarded the W&W Group the "Top Employer" title. Each year, the institute certified employers that offer their employees optimum working conditions. These include flexible working, personal development, work-life balance and employer benefits.

W&W Besser!

The W&W Group is continuing its digital transformation process with "W&W Besser!". The strategic projects were successfully advanced in the first quarter of 2023.

- For example, customers in the Housing division can now take out home loan and savings contracts entirely digitally. The fully electronic submission channels are currently being tested and were developed as a "digital home savings application process" as part of Wüstenrot's "Wohnen 4.0" initiative. This is thus intended to drive the digital transformation of the home loan and savings bank.
- In the Insurance division, the digital brand Adam Riese received the TOP 100 award in the 2023 innovation competition for particularly innovative SMEs. Adam Riese beat 550 competitors in all five categories of the competition – Innovation-friendly Senior Management, Climate of Innovation, Innovative Processes/Organisation, Outward-looking/Open Innovation and Successful Innovations.

 Since the start of 2023, Württembergische Krankenversicherung AG has converted all customer communication documents to modern text output management (TOM). This gives customers the option to receive all correspondence electronically via the customer portal. Electronic document delivery into the customer mailbox with subsequent reminder function is also available to all business lines outside of WürttKranken in order to deliver customer correspondence paperlessly, efficiently and on time.

Sustainability

The W&W Group sees sustainability as a matter of course. Responsible action and social commitment have a long tradition in the Group and are an integral part of its strategic orientation. It is based on an understanding of longterm, stability-focused corporate governance that in turn has its roots in the foundation ideals of W&W AG's main shareholder.

We have voluntarily joined initiatives such as the Principles for Sustainable Insurance (PSI) or the Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI) and are committed to increasingly implementing and continuously developing sustainable principles in our business activities.

The Group-wide sustainability strategy has been further developed in order to further advance the topic of sustainability. The focus was on increasing the measurability and transparency of the sustainability targets.

The Energy-Saving Days in March 2023 were the first introduction to the topic of sustainability at the new W&W Campus. The aim was to raise awareness of energy saving among the W&W Group's employees and thus to contribute to overcoming the energy crisis.

There are various European regulatory initiatives on transparency and disclosure of sustainability information. The initial requirements resulting from them have been implemented in sustainability projects at the W&W Group.

Disclosure of changes in accounting policies

The W&W Group has applied the new standard IFRS 17 Insurance Contracts since 1 January 2023. The previous year's figures have been restated accordingly. IFRS 17 replaces IFRS 4, which had been in effect since 1 January 2005, in full and for the first time introduces standardised requirements for the recognition, valuation, presentation and notes on insurance contracts and reinsurance contracts issued or held by the W&W Group's insurance companies.

The details of the introduction of IFRS 17 were already presented in the consolidated financial statements of the W&W Group. They appear in the "Accounting policies" section of the consolidated financial statements.

Financial performance

Total comprehensive income

Consolidated income statement

As at 31 March 2023, the consolidated net profit after taxes was €64.1 million (previous year: €62.1 million).

With the new accounting standard IFRS 17, part of the consolidated net financial result is attributable to insurance contracts with direct participation features (in life and health insurance). This part of the net financial result must be reclassified to the technical result. Before this reclassification, the net financial result amounted to \leq 409.2 million (previous year: \leq 34.5 million). This increase is primarily attributable to the better measurement result, which benefited from the stabler capital markets than in the previous year. In contrast, net income from disposals declined. After the reclassification, the net financial result still grew to \leq 125.4 million (previous year: \leq 81.2 million).

The technical result (net) rose to \notin 71.5 million (previous year: \notin 47.8 million). A significant increase was achieved in property and casualty insurance in particular. In life and health insurance, the result was relatively stable. Here, the application of IFRS 17 has a smoothing effect on the development of results overall.

Net commission income amounted to -€10.9 million (previous year: €5.9 million). This is primarily attributable to the positive development of new home loan savings business.

General administrative expenses (gross) increased to €310.5 million (previous year: €281.7 million). Marketing initiatives and investments in our IT infrastructure resulted in higher materials costs. Personnel expenses also increased as a result of inflation-driven pension adjustments. As already described with regard to the net financial result, cost components attributable to the technical result were also reclassified in general administrative expenses (in both life and health insurance and property and casualty insurance). After the reclassification, general administrative expenses (net) amounted to €154.6 million (previous year: €134.9 million).

Net other operating income came to €52.9 million (previous year: €76.2 million). Among other things, this was the result of lower income from settlement transactions in connection with home loan savings deposits.

Consolidated statement of comprehensive income

As at 31 March 2023, total comprehensive income increased to €159.5 million (previous year: –€88.8 million). It consists of consolidated net profit and other comprehensive income (OCI).

As at 31 March 2023, OCI stood at €95.5 million (previous year: -€151.0 million). The slight decline in interest rates in the first quarter of 2023 had a positive effect on the market values of fixed-income securities and registered securities. Their unrealised gains, which were recognised in OCI, grew to €256.9 million (previous year: -€2,391.0 million). This was countered by the decline in interest rates for the valuation of technical provisions under IFRS 17. The resulting unrealised losses amounted to €-170.9 million (previous year: €2,125.3 million). In the previous year, interest increased significantly and also led to correspondingly high unrealised gains amounted to €9.4 million (previous year: €114.8 million).

As a complement to the consolidated income statement, OCI serves to depict profit and loss that is recognised directly in equity and that results from accounting under IFRS 9 and IFRS 17. It essentially reflects the interest rate sensitivity of the assets side of our balance sheet and of underwriting on the liabilities side.

The application of the new standard to account for insurance contracts, IFRS 17, significantly reduced measurement discrepancies.

Housing segment

New business

Total new business for housing purposes for urgent financing, modernisation and the accumulation of equity (total from new business (gross) and the new lending business total including brokering for third parties) increased sharply by 28.6% in the first three months of 2023 to reach €6,913 million (previous year: €5,374 million).

Gross new business in terms of total home loan savings contracts increased to $\notin 6,075$ million (previous year:

€3,479 million), the best quarterly result in the company's history.

Net new business in terms of total home loan savings contracts also increased significantly by 122.0% to \notin 4,906 million (previous year: \notin 2,210 million).

As a result of the difficult economic conditions, the new lending business total developed in line with the market and declined on the very strong prior-year quarter to €838 million (previous year: €1,895 million).

Overall, Wüstenrot Bausparkasse AG thus continued its growth course and easily outperformed the market.

Financial performance

Net income after taxes in the Housing segment decreased to €20.9 million (previous year: €52.1 million). As previously described, the previous year's figures were retrospectively adjusted due to new valuation methods.

The net financial result increased to €106.3 million (previous year: €81.7 million). This was largely attributable to higher net income from disposals and increased net measurement income on securities. It was countered by the lower interest surplus of derivatives concluded to manage the risks of changes in interest rates.

Net commission income declined to -€3.7 million (previous year: €7.5 million). This development was primarily driven by higher commission expenses as a result of the significantly increased new home loan savings business.

General administrative expenses amounted to €98.0 million (previous year: €94.5 million). As a result of our digitalisation initiatives, materials costs and depreciation on capitalised acquisition costs for major IT projects increased. Personnel expenses decreased as a result of the coronavirus-related support benefits granted to our employees in the previous year.

Net other operating income picked up substantially to €25.3 million (previous year: €82.1 million). This was mainly the result of lower income from settlement transactions in connection with home loan savings deposits.

Life and Health Insurance segment

New business

Total premiums for new life insurance business rose to &821.2 million (previous year: &985.0 million). The decline was due among other things to fewer single-premium insurance policies. By contrast, in the area of company pension schemes, total premiums were on a par with the previous year at &319.3 million (previous year: &324.5 million).

Total premiums in new life insurance business

In health insurance, annual new premiums increased to €1.8 million (previous year: €0.5 million). New business was increased in full-coverage premium rates as well as supplementary rates.

Financial performance

Segment net income after taxes stood at €12.4 million (previous year: €13.2 million).

With the new accounting standard IFRS 17, almost all the net financial result is attributable to contracts with direct participation features. This part of the net financial result is reclassified to the technical result. Before the reclassification, the net financial result in the Life and Health Insurance segment amounted to €280.0 million (previous year: -€41.8 million). This was due mainly to the measurement result. In the previous year, higher inflation resulted in measurement gains on shares and interest-bearing securities. This development was also evident in the case of investments for unit-linked life insurance policies. Moreover, the increase in interest income led to higher current net income.

The technical result (net) fell to $\pounds 23.8$ million (previous year: $\pounds 31.4$ million). Insurance revenue (technical income) amounted to $\pounds 293.1$ million (previous year: $\pounds 299.1$ million). The previous year's increase in interest rates led to growth in the contractual service margin (CSM) of around 11% compared to the previous quarter and thus slightly higher revenue in the first quarter of 2023. The reversal of the CSM was therefore stable overall and met expectations. In contrast, income from risk adjustment declined. Technical expenses were on a par with the previous year at €265.2 million (previous year: €265.1 million).

Gross general administrative expenses (before the reclassification of components of profit or loss attributable to the technical result) increased to €68.1 million (previous year: €63.1 million). Increased materials costs were offset by lower personnel expenses. After the reclassification to the technical result, net general administrative expenses amounted to €13.7 million (previous year: €9.2 million).

Property/Casualty Insurance segment

New business/premium development

New business in terms of the annual contribution to the portfolio amounted to €167.7 million (previous year: €127.5 million). Both brand new business and replacement business were increased compared with the same quarter of the previous year. All sales channels contributed to this development and significantly exceeded expectations. There was particularly significant growth in the corporate customer and motor businesses.

Financial performance

Segment net income after taxes stood at \in 23.9 million (previous year: $-\in$ 4.9 million).

The net financial result climbed to \notin 7.3 million (previous year: $-\notin$ 8.1 million). This was chiefly due to the improved net measurement income on shares and investment funds.

The technical result (net) increased to \leq 48.4 million (previous year: \leq 15.1 million). While the same quarter of the previous year was influenced by the effects of the claims due to winter storms, the claims for the financial year normalised in the first quarter of 2023. In addition, the insurance portfolio grew overall as a result of the increase in new business, which likewise contributed to the positive result. The combined ratio (net) was thus a positive 92.1% (previous year: 96.9%).

General administrative expenses (gross) amounted to €123.2 million on (previous year: €106.3 million). Both personnel expenses and materials costs increased. This was due primarily to increased expenses for marketing. In addition to collectively bargained wage increases, the increase in personnel expenses is primarily due to the increased payment to the Württembergische pension fund as a result of the inflation-driven pension adjustments. After the reclassification, general administrative expenses (net) amounted to €21.8 million (previous year: €13.5 million).

All other segments

"All other segments" covers the divisions that cannot be allocated to any other segment. This mainly includes W&W AG – together with its participations in Wüstenrot Immobilien GmbH, W&W Asset Management GmbH, Wüstenrot Haus- und Städtebau GmbH, and W&W brandpool GmbH – and the Group's internal service providers.

Segment net income after taxes amounted to $\notin 0.0$ million (previous year: $\notin 4.2$ million).

The net financial result rose to ≤ 6.2 million (previous year: $- \leq 8.0$ million) as a result of higher net measurement income on shares and investment funds.

General administrative expenses increased to \notin 25.0 million (previous year: \notin 23.4 million), mainly as a result of higher depreciation on the campus buildings. Personnel expenses matched the level of the previous year.

Net other operating income grew to €6.7 million (previous year: €3.6 million).

Outlook

The macroeconomic developments and relevant framework conditions are based on estimates made by the company based on relevant analyses and publications of various well-respected business research institutes, Germany's federal government, the Bundesbank, Bloomberg consensuses and industry and business associations.

In the first quarter, ongoing inflation, increasing key rates, and the geopolitical tensions continue to lead to volatile development of the financial markets.

Looking at the year as a whole, we still expect to achieve our forecast of a consolidated net profit within a medium to long-term target range of €220 million to €250 million.

The forecast is subject to the proviso that there are no upheavals on capital markets, economic slumps or unforeseen major loss events over the rest of the year.
